Shipping Company Information

FedEx
- Maximum declared value allowed for jewelry is $1,000.
- FedEx Declared Value Exception service - contract-only service enables shippers to declare value up to $50k on jewelry items. Not available for one-time jewelry shipments.

Parcel Pro
- Insurance company that uses other carriers for transportation.
- Must be a member to use. Membership requires a tax ID.
- Will only ship through FedEx and UPS.

Ship and Insure
- Insurance company that uses other carriers for transportation.
- Must be a member to use. Annual member fee of $135.
- Only ships through FedEx, UPS, and USPS.

UPS
- Maximum declared value for jewelry is $500.
- Will insure up to $50k for other items with a UPS account.

USPS
- No statements regarding jewelry insurance/shipping rates.
- Will only insure up to $5,000 with regular insurance.
- Will insure up to $25k with registered mail—this requires gummed, water-activated tape over all seams (no plastic tape).

Parcel Pro and Ship and Insure use shipping companies to deliver goods—they do not deliver the goods themselves. They act solely as a way to insure your work for X amount of dollars. Insurance is based on per $100 dollars and vary depending on overall cost and shipping method chosen. Both will only ship using next day or 2nd day shipping.

Please note that both of these companies require customers to sign up for their services. All information was gathered to the best of my ability.
